Property Matrix Mogul's own Trans-Pacific Partnership

Property Matrix are based in Culver City, California and specialise in property management software. They found Mogul's listing in the Xero directory, were impressed by the work we had done for a number of US firms, and got in touch.

We completed the first end-to-end project, a marketing site, with Property Matrix in 2016 and earned their trust by delivering to spec on time and to a high quality standard.

The relationship since that initial project expanded to Mogul producing all of Property Matrix's design work including all of the interface design and templates for the software app itself.

We initially used Google's Material Design components as a starting point, but as the project progressed and evolved, we ended up creating a large number of custom components, including a completely new transaction manager and an internal email client.

Strea.ma

Real-time social media wall

Strea.ma is Mogul's very own SaaS (software as a service) product. Used in more than 50 countries, Strea.ma has featured at events like the NZ Rugby Sevens, the Melbourne Cup, and the MKTO Pepsi House Party.

Strea.ma lets you create your very own personally curated real-time display of social media content, that encourages your audience to engage and be a part of the event. Who doesn't want to see a selfie of themselves on the big screen!

As well as being used for events, Strea.ma is also designed to display on your website. The interface can be completely customised to allow for a seamless integration with your site - keeping your customers on your site for longer instead of on social media.

"Not only did we achieve high levels of engagement and participation with the event across social media on the night, but this also converted to a high level of impressions post event. What better way for the night to live on!"
